

NEW CITY SCHOOL Panelists To Discuss U.S. Racial Diversity

A panel will discuss on Thursday racial diversity in the United States, with an emphasis on implications for schools.

Panelists will be Alice Windom, a lecturer at the University of Missouri at St. Louis; Dennis Lubeck, director of the International Education Consortium; and Jim McLeod, chairman of Washington University's Department of African-American Studies.

The program will be held at New City School, 5209 Waterman Boulevard. A reception will be at 7 p.m., and the program will begin at 7:30 p.m.